CITY NEWS.

Only one cent.

THANKS.-Mr. S. C. Meredith, of Adams's Express Company, has our daily thanks for Indianapolis papers.

BATHS .- Don't forget that the Burnet House bath-rooms are now open to the public. They are in the basement, entrance on Vine-street. They are the best arranged in the city.

METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS.—For the Penny Press, by Henry Ware, Optician, No. 7 West Fourth-street, December 6. Thermometer. O'clock. 7 A. M... 12 M.... 6 P. M...

WINTER BOOTS.—How many are there, to day, complaining of cold feet? Remember that the remedy is at hand, and should be provided at once. Go to J. H. Deters, Fourthstreet, west of Walnut, and get a pair of his double-soled, cork-soled or stitched-bottom, water-proof boots. Don't postpone it.

GEOLOGY AND THE BIBLE .- Dr. Boynton proposes to show, in a course of lectures upon Geology, that the science and the Bible do not disagree, and will deliver his first discouse on Wednesday evening next at Smith & Nixons Hall. The lectures will doubtless be instructive and worthy the attention of all who are interested in the subject.

Y. M. M. L. Association .- Further inducements are offered to secure an increased mem-bership to this Association. The Directors have two prizes to offer: The person who shall present the greatest number of names for membership during this current month of December shall be entitled to a fifty dollar lifemembership; or a finely bound complete set of the works of Washington Irving.

UNPAID LETTERS .- The following is a list of letters detained for non-payment of postage at the Postoffice, in this city, December 6:

Louis M. Miller, Ashtabula, Ohfo. Louis M. Miller, Conneaut, Ohfo. Heinrich Wilkinning, Jones Siation, Ind. Henry Blaksly, St. Louis. Mo. Susan Amphiett, Plattsville, Wis. A. C. Austin, Detroit, Mich. Alkinson & Twinebam, Bennington, Ind.

RECEIPTS AT THE MAYOR'S OFFICE .- During the past week Mr. Betts, the Mayor's Clerk, paid into the City Treasury the sum of $1,551 70, derived from the following sources:

IMPORTANT TO EVERYBODY .- We were informed yesterday that the city authorities have determined to rigidly enforce the ordinance relative to cleansing the sidewalks of snow and ice. On Sunday last the streets were almost impassable, from neglect upon the part of persons to make the sidewalks free from slush, and there is every prospect that they will be in the same condition to-day. The ordinance is very explicit, and if our information be correct, much trouble may be saved by timely attention to its requirements.

SERIOUS RAILROAD ACCIDENT IN THE THIRD WARD.—A milkman, named Mathias Walle, while driving cross the track of the Little Miami Railroad, a short distance above the depot, yesterday afternoon, was so seriously injured by a locomotive, which ran against his wagon, that it is feared he can not recover. The vehicle was completely demoished, and he was thrown to the ground so violently that his arm was broken and his skull quite severely fractured. He was conveyed to a house in the neighborhood where his wounds were dressed and his arm amputated, but his inju-ries are of such a nature that it is more than likely they will prove fatal.

A MINISTER MISTAKEN FOR AN ACTOR .- One of our violent pro-slavery Southern exchanges presents its readers with the following exraordinary intelligence: "The ultra-abolitionist, Conway, who for some months past has been making a great stir in Cincinnati, by his rabid haranges sgainst slavery, has at last turned actor, and is drawing crowds of negro-worshippers to the Opera-house in that city."

This will be very new news here, and we would respectfully inform our Southern cotemporary that Monorce D. Conway, the Unita-rian minister, and F. B. Conway, doing the Seading business at the Opera-house, are two very different persons, and are only related to each other through Adam and Eve.

BOARD OF CITY IMPROVEMENTS .- At the regular session of the Board of City Improvements, held yesterday morning, the Clerk was directed to prepare and transmit to the City Council ordinances to assess a special tax upon the real estate bounding and abutting on the following alleys: Hogan-alley from Forbus-alley to Honry-street; Hazen-alley from Hafer-alley to Green-street.

Also, to advertise for sealed proposals to grade and macadamize Brown-street, from Samuel J. Brown's west line to the north corporation line. The following repairs of accepted bowldered streets were ordered: Linn-street from Liberty to Everett, for $35; Mercer-street from Vine to Walnut, for $3; Providence-street from Western-row to Whitewater Canal, for $3; Crossings at the intersections of Longworth and Elm-streets, for $15; Crossings at the intersections of Street and Elm-streets.

tersections of Sixth and Elm-streets, $15.

The Commissioner of the Western District was instructed to have the sidewalks on Richmond-street, opposite Linu, repaired with gravel, at a cost of $10.

The Board located nine public lamp posts, in Laurel-street from Linn to Freeman.

New Books.—Applegate & Co., No. 43
Main-street, have just issued, in neat form,
"First Quarreleand First Dissords in Marriage Life," to which is added a "Matrimonial PeaceOffering," from the pen of J. H. Burk. It is a series of entertaining exetches, well conceived and pointedly told, which should be read by those contemplating matrimony, as it indicates many of the avoidable "breakers ahead."

They have also received "First Learner in

ahead."

They have also received "First Lessons in Geography," by S. Augustus Mitchell, designed as an introduction to the same author's "Primary Geography." It is admirably arranged.

Also, "The Boy's own Toy-maker," which is a practical illustrated guide to the useful employment of leisure hours. The industrious boy who wishes to exercise his mechanical tasses, can here learn the mysteries of kite building, ship rigging, drum making, boat building, &c.

Queer Adventure at the Court-House— An Eccentric Mistaken for a Lunatic.

An Eccentric Mistaken for a Lunatic.

A rather droll story is told around the Court-house, concerning one of its former attaches, who, from extreme eccentricity, has been regarded by many of his acquaintances as a lunatic, and whose very peculiar conduct has, it is said, given just cause for a suspicion of his sanity. One day of last week, a man having been arrested, and an inquest de lunatice inquirendo held upon him in the Probate Court, he was pronounced a fit subject for the Asylum. At this juncture, the person whose duty it is to convey lunatics to Lick Run, was called to take charge of his prisoner, being previously advised to be wary in approaching the unfortunate.

The driver, Tim., went toward the door of

The driver, Tim., went toward the door of the Probate Court, and happened to see our secentric hero—we will call him Bob—supposed him the person with whom he was to deal.

Tim. beckened to Bob, and when he had approached saked him down stairs. Having proached asked him down stairs. Having arrived there, Bob was invited to take a ride on Tim's wagon up town to a lager-beer salcon. In a moment more, the two were ratiling along briskly, and when they had nearly reached the Brighton House, Bob insisted upon knowing where his companion was going. Tim, thinking he had been playing the hypocrite long enough, informed Bob that he was destined for the Asylum; pointing to the institution in the distance. "Well, if that's your direction, I'm going back to town," observed Bob, not even then suspecting the mistake of the driver. Bob was about getting out when I'm seized him, and, after a struggle, tied his arms together with a handkerchief; but Bob soon unloosed his hands, and when Tim endeavored again to detain him, he struck out boldly, and knocked the Jehu head-foremost into the gutter; and leaving him to his reflecinto the gutter; and leaving him to his reflections, hurried rapidly away.

Tim returned to the Court-house as soon as he could remove the mud from his garments and wash the blood from his face, seeking for his escaped prisoner, only to learn of his egregious blunder and to bear a great roar on his announcement of his adventure.

Tim consoled himself for this me, riment, which doubtless appeared to him unseemly by declaring that he'd "taken many a man to the Asylum, but he had never seen a chap madder than that fellow."

[Communicated.] A Protest from the Third Ward.

To the Editors of the Prem: In behalf of a large number of German-born residents of the Third Ward, I desire to interpose for a favorable public sentiment among citizens outside of that ward, to sustain the opposition of those living in it, against the occupancy of the school-house on the north-west corner of East Front and Parsons-streets. The public meeting held last week, and the determined mode used, of expressing the indignation of the citizens, were to express in the firmest and most forcible manner the real and wide-extended opposition to the project which has passed the City Coun-cil, to occupy the school-house designated for branch Prison and Work-house for female a branch Prison and Work-house for female vagrants who have been sentenced to incarceration for sixty days. Our position is a peculiar one; all the residents on the street above, for a long distance, can reach Frontstreet only by passing along this building. Even with a high fence around the yard, the prisoners, when at recreation, will be overlooked from the windows of private residences in the immediate neighborhood. Scanes of disorder and excitement will always Scenes of disorder and excitement will always prevail about the entrances on the daily reception of prisoners. On their dismissal from the house these deprayed women will prowl about our residences, offending by their profanity and vite conduct, the eyes and ears of the women the children. They will demoralize the young men thereabout, turning the locality into a rendezvous of the idle and dissolute. Worthy families living in this neighborhood will thus be insulted. If this nuisance is allowed, it will be a repreach to the City Council, and unjust to the East End. We say no, very loud, and will appeal to the law, if necessary.

AN OLD GERMAN CITIZEN. Scenes of disorder and excitement will always

SICKNESS AT THE CITY PRISON .- Day before yesterday there were five onses of delirium tremens at the City Prison, one of which re-sulted in death. Yesterday an unusually bad but another was added to the number already under treatment, and there are now four cases still in that institution. We have some reason to believe that there are persons who are inclined upon all occasions to be humane, and feel that in the suffering, the destitute and the degraded, no matter to what extent they may be to blame for their wretchedness, there is still something left which entitles them to the sympathies of mankind. To judge from their actions, which, after all, is the best test of one's humanity, very few of this class find, or have found, their way into our City Council. Our reason for this statement may be easily imagined. It has long been an exploded idea, that persons who are guilty of no offense, save that of intoxication, should be punished in the same manner as those who are guilty of larceny, and in the statement which opened this article may be seen one of the results of the disregard our Council pays to the fact. The matter has been discussed long enough, and the effect of confining such persons so that they are wholly deprived of a stimulant that has become a pecessity of their lives, has at length become so manifest that humanity releagn become so manness that numberly re-fuses longer to be silent, and insists upon being heard. That they may be reclaimed none can deny, but that their conditions is improved by the present method of disposing of them no one is mad enough to admit.

Police Court.—Judge Lowe disposed of forty cases yesterday, one of which may be of some interest. We therefore give it, together with the result of some others which have before been mentioned in our columns.

Poter Dory was examined—upon an indict-ment charging him with publishing and selling obscene books—before a jury, which, after an exceedingly careful and minute examination, found him guilty upon the second count.

Four boys, Robert McCarty, Victor Jerrard, Barney Duffy and Thomas Burns, the four boys who were arrested some days ago upon the charge of grand larceny, were sent to the House of Refuge.

Ann Goldsmith, the great western banknote eater, was discharged because the Kentucky schoolmaster refused to appear against her, and there was in consequence of this no evidence of her guilt.
Charles Millard, arrested in company with Thomas Eugene De Marbais, for swindling a couple of bucolicists, was discharged, as there was no evidence of his complicity in the affair.

THE WEATHER-THE CHANGE OF YESTERDAY Cincinnati can hardly be surpassed anywhere for variableness of climate, an assertion which yesterday will corroborate. In the morning a warm rain was falling, and the breath of summer was in the clouded atmosphere. Ere summer was in the clouded atmosphere. Ere noon, the storm had grown chilly, and the copious drops beat coldly and sharply upon the pane and the pedestrian. In the afternoon the rain was accompanied by sleet, and before dark snow was descending sparsely.

As the evening advanced the snow-shower increased, and long before midnight the earth was covered with a winding-sheet. As we write—two o'clock—the snow still scatters down, and the streets, and trees, and house-tobs, are all glistening in the crystal forms.

tops, are all glistening in the crystal forms, with the white dream of death upon them.

ing the Soriptures, singing and prayer, opened the meeting, after which the report of the secretary, Mrs. S. Frankland, was read by Judge Storer. The report was elegantly written, and in many parts was quite rhetorical in style.

It was long and embodied a relation of the degree of the Rosert of Management the results.

to the Board of Managers, their visits to the Prisons and Hospitals, their hopes and fears, and containing many incidents and statements from persons who had been reclaimed through the efforts of the Society, that must have been grateful to its members as they were interesting to the audience. The Home for the Friendless has now been in successful operation five years, and during all this time has been pleading for help te enable the Beard of Managers to provide a suitable place for the accommodation of the females under their care; but still they labor under the disadvantage of an apparent lack of general interest in the institution in the community and an almost depleted. and an almost depleted Treasury. During the past year one hundred persons have been received into the Home, and there has been but one death—that of an infant.

The report closed with an appeal to the gen-orous to assist them in the work they had un-dertaken, a sincere regret for the sickness of the President, whose counsel and aid the Board could not spare, and a remembrance of the sympathy it had received from the friends of the Institution.

TREASURER'S REPORT.

The report of the Treasurer, Miss-Mary A.
Graff, was also quite long, and was only partially read. The receipts during the year, including the balance on hand at the last report, amounted to $3,905 54, of which $451 were received by subscription, and $576 48 by donations. The expenditures, including house rent and house expenses, amount to $3,740 86, leaving a balance in the Treasury of $164 68,

Address by REV. N. WEST.

Rev. Mr. West opened his address by stating that he was glad of the opportunity afforded him to speak in behalf of the almost abandoned class, whom the Association had taken oned class, whom the Association had taken under its charge. The female who had once sinned was seldom reclaimed, and the fault was principally that of society. The betrayer was taken into the parlor and made a friend, but the victim of his plot was crushed to the earth. No one could deny this fact, but could any one assert that it was the result of a true Christian spirit. It is, however, the spirit of a virtuous community, but was it such an one as the brother would bear toward his sister, or a father toward his erring child.

ADDRESS BY REV. KINGSTON GODDARD.

Rev. Mr. Goddard spoke of the cause in which these noble women were engaged, and was glad to see so large a number present; the fact might be denied, but it could not be disguised, that the persons who were to blame for the misery of those fallen women were our brothers and our fathers, and with reference to the more advanced in age, many of them were to be found in our churches.

He had stood at the bed-side of the dying girl whose life had been one of shame, and breathed into her ear the same words of consolation he had used to the members of his ADDRESS BY REV. KINGSTON GODDARD.

olation he had used to the members of his church, and knew there was no depth the divine arm could not reach. Their hearts were naturally no worse than ours, and might be touched by the same voice and restrained by the same love. Conversion was not merely moral reformation, and if they were approached with confidence and love, their hearts might be found and changed.

Art and science always undertook the hard est task, that they might leave the greater monuments. The diver found the brightest pearl in the midst of a mass of corruption; and this week, and yet the street lamps have been extinguished according to the almanac, leaving the city wrapped in impenetrable gloom. Several accidents have occurred, and one or two persons who fractured their limbs talk of sucing the city for damages. It is high time this absurd custom of regulating lights by the almanac should be abolished.

DEATH IN THE CITY PRISON -CORONER'S IN-QUEST.—Coroner Carey was called upon yes-terday morning to hold an inquest upon the ody of a man named Peter Kelly, who died at the City Prison. There was little difficulty in determining the cause of his death, however, and the verdict of the jury was to the effect that it was the result of long-continued ntemperance.

Monetary and Commercial.

Eastern Exchange was quiet and rather low esterday at % buying, and % premium selling, with raneactions at 32%6035c. With the setting in of the very cold weather, it is probable the rate will decline, and we think it may go down to-day.

Money was in active domand yesterday in the reg-ular quarters; and the market was closer than on Monday.

No change in any special feature of finance; the storm interfering with all out-door business.

Superfine Flour was in good demand yesterday, and though purchasers were willing to buy at $5 1065 is holders asked higher prices. No change occurred in holders asked higher prices. No change occurred in Whisky.

The market for Hogs opened with animation, and advanced 75 per cent, from Monday's prices. The very firm feeling gave way, however, as the day advanced, and a decline of 250, occurred. The entire number killed up to last evening was 145,000, against 221,000 to the same date last season. At the close of the market yesterday holders were decirous of selling and almost all the lots offered were disposed of.

Provisions were unsettled on 'change, and a number of lots were re-sold. Groceries were steady and unaltered, and Grains without change.

Monday's New York Times observes concerning Saturday:

During the week past, although the bank movement was strengthened on Monday by $1,721,000 from California, the tendency of the Money market was to firmness in the rates of Discount on long-late bill, outside the Bank rule, and also on temporary loans to brokers on miscalianeous collateral. At the same time, prime short-date acceptances were taken by outside lenders at $665½ per cent, and money placed on pledge of State and Federal securities at $665½ per cent, and money placed on pledge of State and Federal securities at $665½ per cent. The Banks get 7 per cent, and money placed on pledge of State and Federal securities at $665½ per cent. The Banks get 7 per cent, at which there was a good demand at the close of the week. Some of their regular dealers. The rule on call to the Stock Brokers is generally 6 per cent, at which there was a good demand at the close of the week. Some of the private banking-houses in the Foreign Exchange, owing to the rather light demand for Bills on England and France, were less free as lenders of money at call. No movement of Specie in the direction of the South has yet taken place, the Exchange on New York at New Orleans being maintained within a small fraction of par. CINCINNATI MARKET-DECEMBER 6.

Fifth Anniversary of the Home of the Friendless — Addresses by Rev. N.

West and Rev. Kingston Goddard.

The fifth anniversary of the Home of the Friendless was held last night at Union Chapel, on Seventh-street, near Western-row. The audience was quite large, notwithstanding the weather, which doubtless deterred many persons from attending who, under any other circumstances, would have been present.

SECRETARY'S ENFORT.

The usual devotional exercises, such as reading the Scriptures, singing and prayer, opened the meeting, after which the report of the secretary, Mrs. S. Frankland, was read by Judge Storer. The report was elsgantly written, and Store the market is firm, with a good demand at our last quotations: sales of 5,000 bushels choice white at $1.25, and 220 demand, and prices ateads.

Roelison and wife-Stephen Foster vs. the same-Before Judge Collins.—These are politions filed to forecloss mortgages amonting to about $0,000, given by defendants on the real estate of Mrs. R. to secure the negociable promisery notes of her husband, delivered to C. P. Pock, and by him assigned to plaintiff before maturity, for value, in the usual course of business.

tore maturity, for value, in the usual course of business.

The case was argued by Mr. Ball and Judge Caldwell for plaintiff; and by Judge James and Mr. Stansberry for defense.

C. F. Carey. Treasurer of Farmers' College vs. Gray.—An action tried before Judge Carter to recover $120 on subscription for stock.

Chimical.—The State vs. Absolom Grapevine. The prisoner has been placed on trial, charged with murder in the second degree—the homoidde of Henry Morris. The occurrence took place on Sunday, the 2sth of March, in a bar-room on Front-street. The decased was struck with a billet of wood in the head, and died the following day.

The evidence has not concluded.

SUPERIOR COURT. The argument commenced before Judge The argument commenced before Judge Storer in the case of T. A. Morten against John Bates. Mr. Logan opened for the plaintiff, and was followed by Mr. Fox for the defense. Mr. Ware will close to-day on the part of the plaintiff, and the case will be left with the Court.

COVINGTON NEWS.

A DRUNKEN DESPERADO-FIVE MEN STABBED,

pearl in the midst of a mass of corruption; and so in this case many of the brightest intellects were clouded by shame, and angels were often hidden beneath the tinsel and rouge of the unfortunate Magdalen.

A DRUNKEN DESPREADO—FIVE MENSTABLED, ONE PROBLEY FATALLY.—One of the most unprevoked outrages that has occurred here for a long time took place in the neighborhood of Drovers' Inn and Bank Lick-street, yesterday.

A notorious individual, Ed. Sullivan, engaged, when sober, in working at the depot, and when above, in creating disturbances with those who chance to be in his way, became inebriated, and, while in the neighborhood of Drovers' Inn met aman named McSees, from Harrison County, who was driving some hogs. Although an entire stranger, this week, and yet the street lamps have been was driving some logs. Although an entire stranger, Sullivan at once commenced a conversation, and, without any suspicion, stepped behind the drover and stabbed him in the back, inflicting a severe, though we learn, not daugerous wound.

Soon after he entered a shoe-shop on the corner of Bank Lick and Twelfth-sireets, where two men, Strotner and Afel, were engaged in conversation. These he charged with attempting his life, which they denied; whereupon he drew a kuife and cut strotner in the arm and Afel in the back of the neck. Afel's wound is dangerous, aithough his friends entertain hopes of his recovery. On leaving the house, Sullivan cut a man named fluitz in the back, but did no serious nighty. Soon after he stabbed another man, likewise in the back, inflicting a slight wound. The whole conduct of Sullivan was that of a cowardly assassin. Each of his intended victims were approached without warning, and four of the five stabbed in the back. It is no palliation that he was drunk. He has been engaged in several affrays before, and once narrowly escaped being sent to the Ponitentiary. Had he not been promptly arrested, it is thought he would have been lynched.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM DROWNING .- An NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEGWNING.—An Urishman, named Tearny, yesterday morving at tempted to jump on the ferry-boat after it had left the landing, but not being able to reach the load fell into the river. The engine was immediately stopped, and Tearny caught one of the buckets of the wheel, to which he clung until rescued.

MASTER COMMISSIONER'S SALE.—The Covington Locomotive Works were sold to the highest hidder resterday. The buildings and ground attached being knocked down to Mr. Pfaw, machinest, of Cincinnati, at $19,440. The personality brought from $3,000 to $3,500. The terms of sale were cash. cash.

NEWPORT NEWS.

THE RIVER .- The river still continues to rise at the rate of about four feet in twenty-four bours. We presume that a large supply of coal—suffi-cient to prevent it from commanding an exorbitant price this winter—will reach us before the river freezes over.

NEGROES CONSIDERED TROUBLESOME IN CAMADA.—A Grand Jury has made a presentment to the Court of Assizes, of Essex County C. W., against the negro population in the neighborhood of Anderson Township. The authorities of that place claim that ninetenths of the crimes perpetrated in that County, according to the population, are com-mitted by the colored people. The Court, in alluding to the presentment, spoke of this class of the community as "indolent, shiftless and dishonest, and unworthy of the sympathy hat some mistaken parties had extended to them; they would not work when opportunity was presented, but preferred subsisting by thisving from respectable farmers and begging from those benevolently inclined."

DEATH OF A RICH PARISIAN PUBLISHER. leading publisher of Paris, M. Paulin, died on November 4. His great fortune originated in a successful style of cheap literature. He then, for some years, devoted himself to the production of the well-known illustrated editions of Gil Blas, Moliere, Don Quicote, &c., which owed their main attraction to the facile pencil of Tony Johannot, but of late he has confined himself chiefly to the Riustration—a journal that he has the credit of originating, now counting its 100,000 subscribers—and to the historical works of M. Thiers, which are said to have sold to the amount of 700,000 volumes. In less than ten years he is re-ported to have gained more than a million of francs, or $200,000.

WINTER SPORT IN MASSACHUSETTS .- Th towns in the neighborhood of Boaton are pre-paring for the skating season with great en-thusiasm. A skating park has been completed at Maplewood, and at a large and spirited meeting of citizens a committee was appointed to prepare a list of gentlemen to constitute a owns in the neighborhood of Boston are prewith the white dream of death upon them. All winter appears to us as we gaze out of the window, and the stern season displays the frozen scepter of its loy reign.

HATS.—Those wishing to purchase the latest WHIRKY—No change in the market opened buoyant, and prices advanced. B. R. Alley, No. 41 Broadway. He furnishes nothing but a superior article, and persons relying upon his representations will not be deceived. He also has the celebrated seamless cap.

MILITARY.—The different officers in the city, to attend the Military Convention, will be present in full uniform at the Opera-house this evening, by invitation of Manager Barras. on Saturday morning, in New York, some little girls were picking up refuse coal, when Patrick Kirby, a man employed on board a coal barge, came out of the cabin with a pistol in his hand and deliberately fired it at the children. The ball from the weapon took effect upon Eva Stehl, entering her side and massing into the lune, wounding her side and any Style of Grates can be Set or Reset with this Improvement.

GRATES AND STOVES!

WE ARE NOW PREPARED TO FILL orders rapidly, as we have a large force of cood workmen.

Have your grates set with the patent before cold weather, or you will regret it. It is poor economy to use your grates set in the old way, burning twice as much coal as you need, and not obtaining half as much coal as you need, and not obtaining half as much eat as the patent gives. The patent will save our money by reducing the consumption of fuel, it will save your health, by giving you pure heat and plenty of it to make your rooms comfortable in all parts. It makes your home cheerful at a triffing cost, which is soon sayed in fuel.

We have now a full supply of the Patent Stoves, plain and enameled.

Orders may be left at No. 20 West Fifth-street, or sent through mail.
